National Congress of American Indians Tribal Nations Legislative Summit 110th Congress Executive Council

February 26–28, 2007 • Wyndham Hotel • Washington, DC

This year's NCAI Executive Council Session – “110th Congress Executive Council” – will focus on upcoming legislative issues that the members of the 110th Congress will be debating in this Session. Discussion will also center on the Bush Administration's budget proposal for FY08. The EWS meeting provides an opportunity for tribal leaders and advocates to visit congressional offices to discuss current legislative issues of concern.

NCAI strongly urges all of you to make appointments to visit your Senators and Representatives, as well as members of Congress without tribes in their districts who could benefit from an opportunity to hear from tribes. If we are to be successful, it is absolutely vital that Tribal leaders and advocates ACT NOW to educate and alert members of Congress on the key issues before us in the areas of appropriations, trust management, sovereignty protection, transportation, economic development, energy, health care, education, and other critical areas. There is perhaps no better time as we gather together in a powerful coalition with the goal of making our voices heard, bringing our issues to the highest-ranking officials of the federal government.

We strongly encourage you to attend this important session and take advantage of the time allotted for Hill visits. To schedule visits, contact the office of your Senators and Representatives as well as any other offices you would like to visit. If you wish to meet with the Member directly, request the fax number to send a meeting request to the scheduler. You should fax your meeting request IN WRITING to the scheduler, and follow up to ensure the request was received.

We have set aside Wednesday, February 28, 1:00-5:00 p.m. and Thursday, March 1, 1:00-5:00 p.m. for Capitol Hill visits.
