Native Youth STAND Information

WHO? At least one high school student and one adult mentor per tribe.

WHAT IS IT? Native STAND is a comprehensive, school-based health curriculum that promotes healthy decision making for Native youth. This week-long summer camp will cover portions of the Native STAND curricula using fun, interactive games and exercises.

Students will then work with professional videographers to write, film, and produce brief educational videos that will be used by health educators in conjunction with the curriculum.

WHEN? July 27th - 31st, 2009, from 9:00 a.m. - 5:00 p.m.

WHERE? Great Wolf Lodge, Centralia, WA

WHY? All youth—including Native youth—face extreme pressures to fit in and belong. To make the best decisions, youth need factual, science-based information delivered to them in a way they can relate to, by people they trust and feel comfortable with.

PERSONAL BENEFIT: The program will focus on positive personal development, including: team building, diversity, self-esteem, goals and values, decision-making, negotiation and refusal skills, peer educator skills, and effective communication. Students will also get hands-on training in all phases of video production.

Northwest Portland Area Indian Health Board

By signing this respect pledge, I, _____, understand that I will display respectful behavior while I'm in Chehalis, WA. I know that some examples of showing respect are listening while others are talking, not drinking or smoking, being on time, not hitting, pushing or shoving other people, by participating, by having a positive attitude, by treating the facility and grounds like I would in my own home, and by treating people the way I want to be treated. I understand that if I cannot behave in a way that would make my parents and grandparents proud, that I will be sent home at my parent/guardian's expense. I look forward to attending the Native STAND Training where I will meet new people and learn about health!
