About A PROMISE

A PROMISE National Conference aims to provide a forum for Tribes to share promising practices in our communities. A challenge we face is the evaluation of traditional practices that have worked for generations in our communities as well as new and innovative promising practices. We must be able to evaluate these practices in order to create a sustainable system for future generations. A PROMISE will provide the tools, resources, and stories to inspire one another to reclaim the health of our tribal nations

Conference Goals Focus On

- Supporting healthy communities through tribal governance
- Integrating commercial tobacco and chronic disease programs
- Using evaluation to develop best practices
- Sharing tools, resources, and approaches

A PROMISE National Conference will feature:

- Tribal governance and policy development to promote healthier Tribal communities
- Best and promising practices integrating tobacco and chronic disease prevention
- Tribal health networks and partnerships improving health through systems and environmental change

Who should attend?

- Tribal Leaders, Health Committee/Board Members
- Tribal Health Directors, Administrators and Managers
- Area Indian Health Boards, Inter Tribal Councils, Tribal Epi Centers
