

Regional HIV/HEP C and STI Tribal Training in Southern Oregon, March 14, 2013

Dear Tribal BEAR Friends, we are pleased to invite you to our first Regional HIV/HEP C and STI Tribal Training in Southern Oregon at the Seven Feathers Casino Resort on March 14, 2013. This day-long training with doctors from the University of Washington offering the latest medical information is FREE to all participants. We hope to be able to offer a limited number of stipends to community tribal clinics for hotel rooms and mileage.

To learn more about this important training, please visit: www.spipa.org where you will find the agenda, registration, and CME announcement. This training is supported by the Portland Office of Indian Health Services, the Northwest Portland Area Indian Health Board, and the Northwest AIDS Education and Training Center at the University of Washington. The training is designed for tribal clinicians and allied health care providers. We also invite staff from local public health departments and/or community clinics that work with tribal clinics and/or tribal patients.

If you have questions, please call Jutta Riediger at 360-462-3224 or write to riediger@spipa.org or Pawnee Brown at 360-462-3225 or write to pbrown@spipa.org
