- The Public Health Accreditation Board (PHAB) is the national, non-profit organization that administers accreditation for state, local, tribal, and territorial health departments.
- · Located in Alexandria, VA
- Incorporated in 2009; issued first accreditations in 2013.
- Our development was funded by the CDC and the RWJF. Accreditation fees are now almost half of our budget.

Purpose and Use of the Document

- The document was developed to be used with the PHAB Standards and Measures, Version 1.5 in order to provide some Tribal specific guidance related to the documentation and process requirements.
- · PHAB recommends that the user of this document put it side-byside with the standards and measures so as to appropriately apply the supplemental guidance.
- · This webinar does not attempt to re-state the language in the document. It is a guide to use the document. Tribal health departments should refer to the specific language in the document and not these slides when working on their documentation.
