NEI Center Core Grant for Vision Research (P30) - Department of Health and Human Services/National Institutes of Health

DEADLINE: September 25, 2017

AMOUNT: (See announcement.)

DESCRIPTION: The NEI Center Core Grant combines three or more Resource and/or Service Cores for a group of R01 investigators to enhance their research, consolidate resources, avoid duplication of efforts, and/or contribute to cost effectiveness by providing a service with lower costs or higher quality than could be attempted for independent projects by several individual Program Directors/Principal Investigators (PD(s)/PI(s)). Shared resources and facilities that are accessible to a group of independently funded investigators lead to greater productivity for the separate projects and can provide instrumentation and facilities that are too costly to be maintained by an individual investigator. The design and purpose of each Center Core may vary in how it serves its users. This program is designed to enhance an institution's environment and capability to conduct vision research and to facilitate collaborative studies of the visual system and its disorders.

Collaborative Improvement and Innovation Network on Infant Mortality (IM CoIIN) - Department of Health and Human Services/Health Resources and Services Administration

DEADLINE: Jul 17, 2017

AMOUNT: $2,000,000 x 4 awards

DESCRIPTION: The infant mortality rate (IMR) is a widely used indicator of the nation's health. In 2012, the United States ranked 25th among 29 industrialized nations, with an overall IMR of 5.98/1,000 live births.¹ Most notable, the IMR for infants born to non-Hispanic black mothers was 11.19/1,000, more than double the non-Hispanic white IMR of 5.04/1,000.² State public health departments lead infant mortality reduction efforts within their states with support of the Title V Maternal and Child Health Services Block Grant Program.³ At the local level, Healthy Start grants are provided to communities with high annual rates of infant mortality (i.e., at least 1½ times the U.S. national average) and high rates for other adverse perinatal outcomes (e.g., low birthweight, preterm birth, maternal morbidity and mortality) in order to address the needs of high-risk women and their families before, during, and after pregnancy. To advance the mission of Healthy Start and contribute to state infant mortality reduction efforts, this announcement solicits applications for the Collaborative Improvement and Innovation Network on Infant Mortality (IM CoIIN).

Innovations in Nutrition Programs and Services -Department of Health and Human Services/Administration for Community Living

DEADLINE: Aug 01, 2017

AMOUNT: $250,000

DESCRIPTION: This funding opportunity is for competitive grants to be awarded under the OAA Title IV authority to increase the evidenced based knowledge base of nutrition providers, drive improved health outcomes for program recipients by promoting higher service quality, and increase program efficiency through innovative nutrition service delivery models. Funding will support innovative and promising practices that move the aging network towards evidenced based practices that enhance the quality, effectiveness of nutrition services programs or outcomes within the aging services network. Innovation can include service products that appeal to caregivers (such as web-based ordering systems and carryout food products), increased involvement of volunteers (such as retired chefs), consideration of eating habits and choice (such as variable meal times, salad bars, or more fresh fruits and vegetables), new service models (testing variations and hybrid strategies) and other innovations to better serve a generation of consumers whose needs and preferences are different. Innovation and promising practices may include the testing and publishing of positive outcomes in which nutrition programs provide a meaningful role in support of the health and long-term care of older individuals. Outcomes should focus on methods to improve collaboration with local health care entities, decrease health care costs for a specific population or decrease the incidence of the need for institutionalization among older adults. Through this program, funds may be used to help develop and test additional models or to replicate models that have already been tested in other community-based settings.

Pilot Studies to Test the Initiation of a Mental Health Family Navigator to Promote Early Access, Engagement and Coordination of Needed Mental Health Services for Children and Adolescents (R34) -Department of Health and Human Services/National Institutes of Health

DEADLINE: October 5, 2017

AMOUNT: (See Announcement.)

DESCRIPTION: The purpose of this Funding Opportunity Announcement (FOA) is to encourage research applications to develop and pilot test the effectiveness and implementation of family navigator models designed to promote early access, engagement and coordination of mental health treatment and services for children and adolescents who are experiencing early symptoms of mental health problems. For the purposes of this FOA, NIMH defines a family navigator model as a health care professional or paraprofessional whose role is to deploy a set of strategies designed to rapidly engage youth and families in needed treatment and services, work closely with the family and other involved treatment and service providers to optimize care and monitor the trajectory of mental health symptoms and outcomes over time. Applicants are encouraged to develop and pilot test the navigator model's ability to promote early access, engagement and coordination of mental health treatment and services for children and adolescents as soon as symptoms are detected. Of interest are navigator models that coordinate needed care strategies, determine the "personalized match" to the level of needed service amount, frequency and intensity, and harness novel technologies to track and monitor the trajectory of clinical, functional and behavioral progress toward achieving intended services outcomes.

Socioeconomic Disparities in Health and Mortality at Older Ages (R01)-Department of Health and Human Services/National Institutes of Health

DEADLINE: Letter of Intent Due Date(s) - September 20, 2017; Application Due Date(s) - October 20, 2017, by 5:00 PM local time of applicant organization. All types of non-AIDS applications allowed for this funding opportunity announcement are due on these dates.

AMOUNT: (See announcement.)

DESCRIPTION: Life expectancy and health in later life have both improved substantially across the 20th century in the United States. However, these gains in the quality and quantity of life have not been equally distributed. Inequalities in life expectancy and health are strongly associated with differences in income, education, and geographic location (i.e. region, state, county) in the United States. Higher income, more education, and living in particular areas are associated with longer and healthier life.

In recent decades, however, there have emerged new and largely unexplained trends in the size of these disparities: the gaps in life expectancy and health outcomes at middle and older ages by income, education, and geographic location have been increasing. For example, between the mid-1980s and the mid-2000s, the education-mortality gradient among non-Hispanic white and black men became steeper, largely because mortality reductions were concentrated among the most educated. Further, some groups have actually experienced declines in life expectancy. Between 1990 and 2000, life expectancy (conditional on survival to age 25) increased by one year among white, non-Hispanic women with 13 years of education or more, but decreased among their counterparts with 12 or fewer years of education. Another recent study showed that between 2001 and 2014, life expectancy increased by 2.34 years for men and 2.91 years for women in the top five percent of the income distribution; at the same time, life expectancy increased only by 0.32 years for men and 0.04 years for women in the bottom five percent of the income distribution. For both education and income, the relationship with mortality takes the form of an inverse relationship, or gradient—additional earnings and years of education continue to be associated with decreased mortality throughout the distribution—even at the very top. In addition, studies show that geographic differences in life expectancy (between regions, states, and/or counties) have increased over time. For example, life expectancy for men at age 50 was about 20 years in both California and Kentucky in 1965, but by 2004, California men could expect to live nearly 30 additional years, while Kentucky men could expect to live only about 26 years more. Finally, some studies show that the associations between income and education and mortality are complicated by additional factors such as gender, race, age, and geography. Recent work, for example, finds that life expectancy for those in the bottom income quartile varies by 4.5 years, depending where one lives. It is worse to be poor in some places than in others.

We currently lack good answers to a number of critical questions regarding why inequalities in mortality and other health outcomes at older ages are growing in the United States. Why have socioeconomic health gradients grown more for some groups than others (e.g. age, gender, race/ethnicity, geographic area)? To what extent—and when—are these associations between socioeconomic factors and aspects of health causal, as opposed to reflecting shifts in the composition of disadvantaged groups and selective forces over time? To what extent are these trends the product of age, period, and/or cohort effects? What role do behavioral, social, psychological, environmental, policy, and other factors from across the entire lifespan play in explaining these trends?

$$$ ~ Weekly Funding Opportunities Report ~ $$$

Friday, June 23, 2017

Research Objectives

The purpose of this funding opportunity is to support studies that identify mechanisms, explanations, and modifiable risk factors underlying recent trends of growing inequalities in morbidity and mortality by income, education, and geographic location at older ages in the United States. Applicants are encouraged to consider a variety of health outcomes in order to explain the processes generating these trends. Applicants are strongly encouraged to present well-developed conceptual models.

Examples of analytic approaches that fall within the scope of this FOA include (but are not limited to) those that:

Identify the mechanisms that explain growing socioeconomic and geographic inequalities in health at older ages, explain their role in racial disparities, and detect modifiable risk factors

Ascertain the extent to which these trends are driven by age, period, and cohort-related factors

Consider the role of education, income, and geographic region as causal factors versus alternative explanations such as differential selection over time or shifting composition of groups

Leverage longitudinal data, ideally from childhood through old age

Use a diverse set of analytic methods (e.g. life-cycle, comparative, cohort, multi-level)

Consider how institutional and cultural contexts (including their timing within the life course of individuals) influence health disparities

Examine a wide range of physical, mental, and functional health outcomes, in addition to mortality

Capitalize on NIA-funded data sources with life history and geographic information (e.g., English Longitudinal Study of Ageing; Health and Retirement Study; Midlife in the United States; National Longitudinal Mortality Study; Panel Study of Income Dynamics; Survey of Health, Ageing, and Retirement in Europe)

Examples of data improvements that fall within the scope of this FOA include (but are not limited to) those that:

Enhance existing data resources to improve data availability on a variety of topics (e.g., early life development, exposures to inequality prior to midlife, comprehensive stress measurements, employer and work issues, and minority groups) to enable examination of within-group heterogeneity

Enhance existing clinical studies to add complementary measures in areas such as social, emotional, and psychological domains

$$$ ~ Weekly Funding Opportunities Report ~ $$$

Friday, June 23, 2017

Characteristics of Responsive Applications

1. Life course approaches are encouraged, but applications proposing analysis of data solely from childhood or young adulthood are not responsive to this FOA.
2. Applications that document descriptive trends without assessing potential mechanisms or explanations will not be considered responsive.
3. Applications proposing projects that use only animal models are not responsive to this FOA.

Expansion of HCV prevention (including education), testing, care (including preventive health care), and treatment capacity among RWHAP-funded clinics, HRSA and Medicare-certified Federally Qualified Health Centers (FQHCs), [1] and SAMHSA-funded community-based substance use disorder (SUD) and behavioral health treatment providers that predominantly serve people of color living with both HIV and HCV; Improved coordination of linkage to and retention in care and treatment for people who are co-infected with HIV/HCV; Improved coordination with SAMHSA-funded SUD treatment providers to expand the delivery of behavioral health and substance use treatment support to achieve treatment completion and to prevent HCV infection and re-infection; and Enhancement of health department surveillance systems to increase their capacity to monitor acute and chronic coinfections of HIV and HCV in areas affected by HIV/HCV coinfection among low-income, underinsured, or uninsured racial and ethnic minority populations, and to enable an HCV Data to Care capacity. [2] You must provide evidence of HIV/HCV coinfection among low-income, underinsured, or uninsured racial/ethnic minority populations and demonstrate your ability to access people living with HIV (PLWH) who are also living with or at risk for acquiring HCV infection. Populations of interest include racial and ethnic minorities living with HIV who have demonstrated a high prevalence of HCV, including, but not limited to, people who use drugs (PWUD), especially people who inject drugs (PWID); men who have sex with men (MSM); high-risk heterosexuals; and transgender persons. During the first year of the initiative, recipients will develop a plan that, based on local needs, will coordinate the implementation of multiple strategies to increase the number of people living with HIV and HCV in their service area who are screened, diagnosed, linked to care, treated, and cured of HCV. This project planning and development phase will be followed by two (2) years of implementation. Recipients will be expected to partner with and provide annual subawards to clinical sites seeking to improve their capacity to treat HIV/HCV coinfection among low-income, underinsured, or uninsured racial/ethnic minority populations. Applicants should propose how they will work with subrecipients to increase capacity in the following areas: Provision of HIV/HCV coinfection care and treatment according to the HHS guidelines; Provision of HIV/HCV medication adherence support; Performance of necessary lab testing, referrals for liver biopsy and other staging procedures; and Provision of prevention education about HCV infection and re-infection. Subrecipient clinics will be expected to conduct targeted outreach to include low-income, underinsured, or uninsured out of care (OOC) people living with both HIV and HCV; contact tracing; and development of their own HCV/HIV multidisciplinary teams. Strategies for collaboration between recipients and clinics may include case conferences, sharing OOC lists, and shared training events. Please note that you may not use funds for the purchase of medications to treat HCV. Therefore, participating providers must have adequate access to direct acting antivirals (DAA) medications through other existing funding mechanisms and/or payor sources. Recipients will also be expected to partner (which may include providing subawards) with SUD and mental health treatment provider(s) in the service communities of each of the clinical sites, if these services are not available at the clinical sites. You should propose how you will accomplish the following activities: Formation of partnerships (which may include providing subawards) with local SUD and mental health treatment provider(s) to build their capacity to provide integrated care and to enable bidirectional client referrals for appropriate HIV/HCV and SUD treatment; Linkage of clients of clinical sites who screen positive for SUDs into SUD treatment, either at the clinical site or at the partnering agency; Linkage of clients in SUD and mental health treatment who test or are identified as living with HIV and HCV and who are out of care to the clinical site for treatment; Provision of interventions by clinical sites working with SUD and mental health treatment providers to clients living with HIV and HCV with SUDs to prevent overdose and re-infection (including referrals to syringe services programs, or SSPs); and Provision of referrals to community education programs, including those which address the benefits of access to medication-assisted treatment (MAT) and SSPs. Please note that funds from this initiative may be used by recipients to make subawards to accomplish any or all of the activities outlined above. Partnership agreements and/or subawards with either clinical sites or SUD providers should be established expeditiously in order to accomplish the goals of the project in the time period. Recipients will also be expected to deliver training to HCV care providers at the clinical sites. You should propose how you will accomplish the following activities: Training of providers through the use of a curriculum and provider competencies developed by the AIDS Education Training Center (AETC) National Coordinating Resource Center; Collaboration (which may include subawards) with their Regional AETC; Collaboration (which may include subawards) with their Local Performance Site (LPS), if applicable, and; Support of practice transformation and other HIV/HCV – specific workforce development activities for all entities within the formal partnership of the recipient and all of their subrecipients/subawardees. Please note that recipients will also be expected to partner (which may include subawards) with their state, local, or tribal health department to improve surveillance of HCV coinfection among PLWH in areas of high populations of racial/ethnic minorities, including people of color. Similar to HIV Data to Care efforts, the enhanced surveillance data systems will enable the use of HCV surveillance data to identify HCV-diagnosed PLWH in areas of high populations of racial/ethnic minorities, including people of color, who are not in care, and link them directly to care. Health departments will also play a critical role in facilitating the collection of HCV-related data required by the initiative. Recipients will also be expected to work closely with a technical assistance and evaluation team (funded separately by HRSA/HAB) to demonstrate outcomes and disseminate findings, best practices and lessons learned. Recipients will be required to collect and report data on the extent of knowledge among HIV and HCV coinfecting patients regarding HCV treatment; and of health care providers regarding HCV screening and treatment. Applicants who have previously collected these data should indicate such and provide the results. Applicants that have not previously collected these data will be required to conduct rapid assessments using existing instruments previously developed by the evaluation team. With the assistance of the technical assistance and evaluation team, recipients must submit these instruments to their Institutional Review Board (IRB) for review and approval within two months of award. The two knowledge assessments must be completed in the first nine months of year one, and will be used to identify gaps among consumers to be addressed by implementing educational programs; and to address provider training needs in their areas. During the first year of the initiative, recipients will be expected to develop a detailed project implementation plan to enhance their service area's public health infrastructure that will result in increased prevention, screening, care, treatment, and cure of HCV in people living with HIV, targeted to people of color. Subsequently, recipients shall implement their plans to expand their area's capacity to provide HCV screening, care, and treatment to people who are living with HIV and HCV, targeted to people of color. In year three, recipients will also be expected to work collaboratively with the evaluation team in the production of a project monograph and other publication and dissemination activities to document the findings, best practices, and lessons learned from this demonstration project initiative. At the end of the three-year project period, recipients will have implemented effective, comprehensive, area-wide HCV screening, care, and treatment systems leading to demonstrable improvements in HCV care outcomes among people living with HIV and HCV, including people of color. Recipients also will be expected to work with their partners and/or subrecipients to fully integrate their HCV screening, care, and treatment systems implement requirements of SORNA. In summary, SORNA requires: (1) all States, the District of Columbia, the principal U.S. territories, and participating federally recognized Indian tribes to maintain a sex offender registry; and (2) sex offenders to register and maintain a current registration in each jurisdiction where the offender resides, is an employee, or is a student. SORNA also sets forth requirements for sex offender registries, to include specified information, duration of registration, and in-person verification of sex offender registration information, as well as participation in the National Sex Offender Public Website (NSOPW), and the utilization of the SORNA Exchange Portal. For more specific information about substantial implementation of SORNA and access to the National Guidelines and Supplemental Guidelines on Sex Offender Registration and Notification, please visit http://www.smart.gov/pdfs/final_sornaguidelines.pdf. For information and resources on SORNA, visit www.smart.gov. Goals, Objectives, and Deliverables

The SMART Office is interested in proposals that facilitate, enhance and maintain jurisdictional implementation of SORNA. For State and Territorial jurisdictions that have not yet substantially implemented SORNA, applicants must have received a SORNA Substantial Implementation Report from the SMART Office, or submitted materials for review, and must explain how the proposed project will bring the jurisdiction closer to implementation based upon SMART's review. For tribal jurisdictions that have not yet substantially implemented SORNA, applicants must have received a SORNA Substantial Implementation Report, or submitted materials for review or requested and received a "reasonable time" extension from the SMART Office. If the jurisdiction has received a Substantial Implementation Report, the applicant must explain how the proposed project will bring the jurisdiction closer to implementation based on SMART's review. Discussion of a jurisdiction's planned activities should include information regarding the jurisdiction's SORNA implementation working group. The working group plan should include a list of the working group members, their responsibility regarding SORNA implementation, and an agenda for the group's work during the grant period, in addition to the timeline of the applicant's planned activities otherwise required by this solicitation. It is expected that successful grantees will complete semi-annual progress reports that include updates on their jurisdiction's working group meetings. This requirement does not apply to jurisdictions that have already been found to have substantially implemented SORNA. For those jurisdictions that have substantially implemented SORNA, the application must explain how the proposed project will either support continued implementation of SORNA or enhance their registration/notification programs. State and Territorial applicants should link their proposed activities with non-implemented factors as identified in their most recent SORNA Substantial Implementation Report. In developing and/or enhancing efforts or programs designed to implement or maintain SORNA standards, applicants may propose specific strategies and projects including, but not limited to, the following examples: Examples of strategies and projects to develop or enhance jurisdiction-wide SORNA implementation

Enhancing infrastructure to assist implementation of SORNA, such as the collection, storage, submission or analysis of sex offender biometric data (finger and palm prints) and DNA. See budget information on page 6 including referenced footnote for more information. Tribal applicants: • Tribes that have elected to carry out the requirements of SORNA are encouraged to apply for funding to support SORNA implementation activities that benefit a consortium of tribes that have elected to implement SORNA. Several tribes may choose to form a consortium to share resources (e.g., hardware, digital fingerprint equipment, kiosks; joint staff or shared registry office space; shared public registry website, etc.) or collaborate on enforcement activities or other facilities used for registration. An application to fund such a collaborative approach or project must include supporting documentation, such as an interagency agreement, a memorandum of understanding, or a letter of cooperation that demonstrates commitment from each member jurisdiction of the consortium. • Tribes that have been found to have substantially implemented SORNA may apply for funding to create, improve and/or sustain registration/notification activities, including but not limited to developing community education programs on sex offender topics (e.g., promoting an understanding of the tribe's sex offender registration, notification, treatment, and community supervision strategies; safety planning; and facts and statistics about sexual offending and offenders), or collaboration with intra-tribal organizations, including victim service agencies, courts, probation, schools and other entities. An application to fund such a collaborative approach or project must include supporting documentation from the included tribal organizations detailing how the collaboration will be effectuated. The application should also detail how such strategies will sustain and support the tribe's sex offender registration and notification program. • Tribes that have been found to have substantially implemented SORNA may apply for funding to develop or enhance their inter-jurisdictional cooperation, including but not limited to information-sharing infrastructure improvement. States with tribal jurisdictions within their borders: • States may apply to support efforts of local or state units of government, or P.L. 280 tribes, to develop or enhance their sex offender registration and notification functions as they pertain to tribal nations that have been delegated to the state for the purpose of substantial implementation of SORNA. • State jurisdictions that include P.L. 280 tribes are encouraged to design projects that address SORNA implementation as it relates to these tribes. • State jurisdictions that have Tribal SORNA Jurisdictions within their borders may apply for funding to enhance their collaboration with SORNA tribes including but not limited to enhancing information sharing such as tribal access to NCIC/NSOR. An application to fund such a collaborative approach or project must include supporting documentation, such as an interagency agreement, a memorandum of understanding, or a letter of cooperation, which demonstrates the collaborative endeavor from each member SORNA jurisdiction involved in the collaboration. Additional Information Required State and territory applicants that are eligible to receive Byrne/JAG reallocation funding should describe how the proposed project complements the work that the jurisdiction plans to perform with that reallocation funding. Applicants shall ensure that the project involves activities that are separate from or complement the tasks being performed with the SORNA reallocation funding, so as to avoid receiving duplicate funds for the same activity. The Goals, Objectives and Deliverables are directly related to the performance measures set out in the table in Section D. Application and Submission Information, under "Program Narrative."

AMOUNT: $3,000,000/12 awards

DESCRIPTION: This announcement solicits applications for the Rural Health Opioid Program (RHOP). The purpose of RHOP is to promote rural health care services outreach by expanding the delivery of opioid related health care services to rural communities. The program will reduce the morbidity and mortality related to opioid overdoses in rural communities through the development of broad community consortiums to prepare individuals with opioid-use disorder (OUD) to start treatment, implement care coordination practices to organize patient care activities,[1] and support individuals in recovery through the enhancement of behavioral counselling[2] and peer support activities.[3] This program will bring together health care providers (i.e. local health departments, hospitals, primary care practices, and substance abuse treatment providers) and entities such as social service and faith-based organizations, law enforcement, and other community-based groups to respond multifaceted to the opioid epidemic in a rural community. The consortium must include at least three (3) health care providers. The program supports three (3) years of funding. This program incorporates a range of objectives to respond comprehensively to the opioid crisis within rural communities. Consortiums will work towards identifying individuals at-risk of overdose and guide them towards recovery by providing outreach and education on locally available treatment options and support services. Educating community members on OUD is also a critical component of responding to the opioid epidemic, which incorporates education on OUD, treatment options, methods for preparing individuals with OUD for treatment, referring individuals with OUD to treatment, and how to best support individuals in recovery. Consortiums are encouraged to implement care coordination practices to organize patient care activities. Finally, consortiums are further encouraged to support individuals in recovery by establishing new or enhancing existing behavioral counselling and peer support activities. The program provides financial aid of up to $5,000 to assist with basic life needs in the form of a grant -not a loan- so no repayment is required. RWJF: Submit a Pioneering Idea Brief Proposal - Throughout the year, we welcome Pioneering Ideas Brief Proposals that can help us anticipate the future and consider new and unconventional perspectives and approaches to building a Culture of Health.

DEADLINE: Open

AMOUNT: See site

DESCRIPTION: The goal of the Pioneering Ideas Brief Proposal funding opportunity is to explore; to look into the future and put health first as we design for changes in how we live, learn, work and play; to wade into uncharted territory in order to better understand what new trends, opportunities and breakthrough ideas can enable everyone in America to live the healthiest life possible.

While improving the status quo is vital to the health and well-being of millions of Americans now, the Pioneering Ideas Brief Proposal opportunity reaches beyond incremental changes to explore the ideas and trends that will influence the trajectory and future of health. Ultimately, we support work that will help us learn what a Culture of Health can look like—and how we can get there.

What is a Pioneering Idea?

Good question! We don't want to provide a checklist that limits your thinking—or ours. We do want to give you as clear a picture as we can about the kinds of proposals we hope to see, so you can best assess whether submitting an idea through our Pioneering Ideas Brief Proposal process is the right next step for you. Our application form allows you to introduce your idea; if it seems to be a fit for our portfolio we will reach out for more information.

We share some examples below of Pioneering Ideas we have funded in the past to give you a sense of where we've been. Keep in mind that ultimately, we need you to challenge us, and to tell us where we should be going and what ideas have the most potential to transform the way we think about health. As you review the examples below, you may notice some shared themes or characteristics which:

Challenge assumptions or long-held cultural practices.

Take an existing idea and give it a new spin—or a novel application.

Offer a new take or perspective on a long-running, perplexing problem.
