BATTERED WOMEN'S JUSTICE PROJECT

February Webinars from BWJP

Mapping Gender: Shedding Empirical Light on Family Courts' Treatment of Cases Involving Abuse and Alienation

Friday, February 9, 2018 / 2-3:30pm CT

Content: What is really happening in the nation's family courts? This webinar discusses a national empirical study of custody courts' responses to domestic violence, child abuse, and parental alienation claims. While an NIJ-funded 4-year expanded study is ongoing, the results of the original pilot study (240 cases) are now available. The study examined electronically published opinions in custody and visitation cases concerning abuse and parental alienation allegations. It is entirely objective, relying solely on what litigants claimed, what courts found or credited, and how courts ruled. While the pilot study originally sought to examine gender bias in application of parental alienation claims, some stunning additional findings emerged, including the high rates at which mothers lose custody, the stark impact of child abuse allegations, and the gendered impact of parental alienation claims.

Presenters: Joan S. Meier, Professor of Clinical Law, George Washington University Law School. Hosted by Stephanie Avalon, Training & Technical Assistance Specialist, BWJP

Screening, Assessment, and Intervention Model for Intimate Partner Violence Perpetration and Co-Occurring Combat-Related Conditions

Wednesday, February 14, 2018 / 2-3:30pm CT

Content: This webinar will introduce BWJP's new resource, Screening, Assessment, and Intervention Model for Intimate Partner Violence Perpetration and Co-Occurring Combat-Related Conditions. The guide's authors will present a model for understanding military and veteran-related intimate partner violence (IPV) and examine IPV's relationship to co-occurring conditions common among current and former servicemembers. They will then recommend a community-wide approach to screening, assessment, and intervention that will assist communities to intervene more effectively in these cases and prevent further violence in military and veteran families. Criminal justice professionals (law enforcement, attorneys, judges, pretrial services/probation/parole officers, healthcare and mental health professionals, victim advocates, and IPV intervention programs staff) will benefit from this webinar and the guide.

Presenters: Glenna Tinney, MSW, ACSW, DCSW, Captain, U.S. Navy (Ret.); April Gerlock, Ph.D., ARNP, PMHNP-BC, PMHCNS-BC. Hosted by Brian Clubb, Project Director, Military & Veterans Advocacy, BWJP

Case File Review: What Do Sexual Assault Cases Look Like in Our Communities?

Thursday, February 22, 2018 / 2-3:30pm CT

Content: Based on a toolkit that the Sexual Violence Justice Institute (SVJI) developed, this webinar will explain the process and framework for reviewing sexual assault case files as an evaluative measure for sexual assault response teams (SARTs). Case file review is a powerful way to identify strategies to better investigate and document sexual assault cases. It is also an excellent strategy to evaluate current policies and practices of SART agencies. The presenters will explore the benefits and challenges to reviewing law enforcement files, including privacy and victim confidentiality concerns. This webinar addresses why multidisciplinary teams conduct case file review and will offer practical tips and tools to use case file review. Participants will learn how to create meaningful change to the sexual violence response in a way that is both victim centered and addresses offender accountability.

Presenters: Jolene Engelking, Project Development Specialist, Sexual Violence Justice Institute; Leah Lutz, Program Manager, Sexual Violence Justice Institute. Hosted by Marijka Muras, Training & Technical Assistance Specialist, BWJP

Analysis of the Strength of Legal Firearms Restrictions for Perpetrators of Domestic Violence and their Association with Intimate Partner Homicide

Monday, February 26, 2018 / 2-3:30pm CT

Content: Dr. Zeoli will discuss the very important findings from her recently published research exploring the relationship between different types of firearms legal prohibitions and reductions in intimate partner homicide rates. This quantitative policy evaluation considered data from forty-five states over thirty-three years, and shows significant correlations between specific prohibitions and a reduction in intimate partner homicide.

Presenters: Dr. April Zeoli, School of Criminal Justice, Michigan State University. Hosted by David Keck, Project Director, National Center on Domestic Violence and Firearms, BWJP

Veterans & Family Court: The Family Law Veteran's Diversion Program

Wednesday, February 28, 2018 / 2-3:30pm CT

Content: This webinar will examine the Family Law Veterans' Diversion Program, Orange County (CA) Superior Court. Begun in 2010, this program is designed to address the unique needs of military veterans and their families when involved in family court proceedings. It provides assessments/treatment for posttraumatic stress (PTS) and traumatic brain injury TBI issues; addresses protection for intimate partners and children during the treatment process, and; assists veterans in avoiding statutory ramifications of a domestic violence finding.

Presenters: Honorable Lon Hurwitz, Family Law Division, Orange County (CA) Superior Court; Kathleen West, DrPH, University of Southern California Department of Preventative Medicine; Center for Innovation and Research on Veterans & Military Families, University of Southern California School of Social Work. Hosted by Brian Clubb, Project Director, Military & Veterans Advocacy, BWJP

In Their Shoes: An Inclusive LGBTQ Prevention Education Tool That You Should Be Using In Your Community!

Tuesday, February 6, 2018 / 12-1:30 CT

Content: Ilene Stohl, a prevention expert from the Washington State Coalition Against DV, will join us to talk about WSCADV's youth education tool, In Their Shoes. In Their Shoes is a dynamic education tool, created in collaboration with diverse youth. Designed with the classroom in mind, In Their Shoes is an engaging way to talk with young people about healthy relationships and abuse. It is LGBTQ inclusive, and brings racial and social justice issues to the forefront in ways that push the envelope while still fitting within the school setting. With In Their Shoes, students participate by 'becoming' one of six teen characters and then confront decisions and consequences relating to texting, pregnancy, homophobia, and dating violence. Participants make choices and read about interactions with their dating partner, family, friends, school personnel, police, and others. Join us for this webinar where you'll learn best practices, tips, and tricks for facilitation, including how to manage homophobia that may come up in classrooms regarding the LGBTQ characters.

Thriving While Healing: Skills-based Support for LGBTQ Survivors of Sexual Violence

Tuesday, February 20, 2018 / 2-3:30 CT

Content: This webinar will discuss highlights and lessons learned from the NW Network's unique, strengths-based sexual assault support group, Thriving While Healing: Finding Joy, Resilience and Support in the Aftermath of Sexual Assault. This all-gender support group, specifically oriented to LGBTQ survivors offers skills, education, and tools to name and confront the silence, isolation, and shame which so many survivors experience, regardless of sexual orientation or gender identity. Themes and interactive activities from the group such as cultivating resilience, normalizing the process of healing, trigger planning, positive sexuality, and self-trust will be discussed during this webinar.

Presenter: Sydney Pk, the NW Network of Bi, Trans, Lesbian and Gay Survivors of Abuse

- Faculty members gain a clear path to tenure through the University's Probationary Plan Process.
- Salary placement depends upon academic preparation and professional experience.
- California State University, Fresno is a vibrant and growing campus. When necessary, the University may decide to make more than one faculty appointment from a single search.

Position Summary:

The Department of Public Health is in the College of Health and Human Services at California State University, Fresno seeks applicants for a tenure-track position at the Assistant/Associate Professor rank with a Fall 2018 start date. The successful candidate will teach undergraduate courses in Community Health/Health Promotion and graduate courses in the Master in Public Health program. Graduate advisement will include student projects and theses in the area of Community Health/Health Promotion, with emphasis on community public health methods. Specific assignments are dependent upon department needs. The successful candidate may be called upon to teach in an online mode and will be encouraged to develop web-enhanced and/or web-based instruction. Outcomes assessment and service learning are important components of the university curriculum. The successful candidate will be expected to work cooperatively with faculty and staff in the department and college.

Overview:

The mission of the Department of Public Health is to promote, preserve, and restore health. This is accomplished by educating undergraduate and graduate students to be effective leaders and practitioners at the local, national, and international levels. The Department of Public Health offers curricula based on principles of public health practices leading to a Bachelor of Science degree at the undergraduate level and a Master of Public Health Degree. The Bachelor of Science in Health Science and the Master of Public Health (MPH) are designed to prepare students for careers with official and voluntary health agencies at the federal, state, or local levels of government as well as the private sector. The options are designed to provide basic education for careers in community health, public health, environmental health, industrial hygiene, health services administration, occupational health, and the allied health professions.

Required Education:

An earned doctorate (Ph.D., Ed.D. or Dr.PH) from an accredited institution in Public Health or Community Health or Health Promotion or related field is required for appointment to a tenure track position. Candidates nearing completion of a doctorate program (ABD) may be considered; however, for continued employment in a tenure-track position the doctorate must be completed by the time of appointment (8/17/18). Qualifying degrees must be from an accredited institution or foreign equivalent. Appointment to the rank of Associate Professor requires a substantially higher level of experience and accomplishments in teaching and scholarly productivity than that required for appointment at the Assistant Professor level.

Required Experience:

- 1) Successful teaching experience at the undergraduate level;
- 2) Ability to demonstrate a commitment to working effectively with faculty, staff, and students from diverse ethnic, cultural, and socioeconomic backgrounds.

Preferred Qualifications:

Candidates with successful Community Health or Health Promotion teaching at the university level are preferred. Evidence of publications in scholarly journals along with successful grant proposal writing and the ability to attract external funding are highly desirable. Active participation or leadership roles in professional organizations is also highly desirable.

Application Procedures:

Review of applications will begin February 12, 2018, and will continue until the position is filled. To apply, applicants must complete an on-line application at jobs.fresnostate.edu and attach the following: 1) a cover letter specifically addressing required experience and preferred qualifications; 2) a curriculum vitae, and 3) list of three professional references. Finalists will be required to submit 1) three current letters of recommendation and 2) official transcripts. For inquiries, contact: Dr. Vickie Krenz, Search Committee Chair; California State University, Fresno; College of Health and Human Services; Department of Public Health; 2345 East San Ramon Avenue M/S MH30, Fresno, CA 93740-8031; Phone: 559.278.2684, Fax: 559.278.4179; E-mail: vickik@csufresno.edu

Other Requirements:

In compliance with the Annual Security Report & Fire Safety Report of Campus Security Policy and Campus Crime Statistics Act, California State University, Fresno has made crime-reporting statistics available to applicants, students, and employees on-line at <http://www.fresnostate.edu/police/clery/index.shtml>. Print copies are available by request from the Campus Police Department.

A background check (including criminal records check) must be completed satisfactorily for this position. An offer of employment may be withdrawn or employment may be terminated based upon the results of the background investigation.

The person holding this position is considered a "mandated reporter" under the California Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act and is required to comply with the requirements set forth in CSU Executive Order 1083 Revised July 21, 2017 as a condition of employment. You can obtain a copy of this Executive order by accessing the following web site: <http://www.calstate.edu/eo/EO-1083.html>.

California State University, Fresno is a smoke free campus. For more information, please click <http://fresnostate.edu/adminserv/smokefree/index.html>

California State University, Fresno is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. We consider qualified applicants for employment without regard to race, religion, color, national origin, ancestry, age, sex, gender, gender identity, gender expression, sexual orientation, genetic information, medical condition, disability, marital status, or protected veteran status.

Funding Opportunity: Research on Research Integrity

The Office of Research Integrity (ORI) is seeking to fund up to four awards of $150,000 each that will foster innovative research on research integrity. Projects' primary focus should be related to the protection of whistleblowers, prevention of research misconduct, or the furtherance of research integrity efforts in the U.S. and internationally. ORI would like potential awardees to identify ways in which educational programs can encourage the responsible conduct of research (RCR), more specifically: identify risk factors that make misconduct more likely, create evidence base for proactive interventions, build on lessons learned through previous research and the experiences of those who have been involved in guiding research misconduct proceedings, and support the development of tools that can be used to more easily identify research misconduct images and statistical results. Applications are due March 23, 2018, by 6 p.m. ET.

Funding Opportunity: Conference Grants on Research Integrity

ORI seeks to support conference grants on research integrity. Anticipated grant applications must be designed to provide a forum for discussion and produce tangible outcomes related to at least one of the following themes: responsible conduct of research training, fostering an environment that promotes research integrity, prevention of research misconduct, handling research misconduct allegations, whistleblowing, or other topics clearly linked to research integrity and in compliance with 42 C.F.R. Part 93.

ORI anticipates awarding a total of four grants, up to $50,000 each. Applications are due March 26, 2018, by 6 p.m. ET.
