

Join us.

PUBLIC HEALTH RESEARCH ACADEMY
for Native High School Students

June 2023-May 2024

The Opportunity

The Northwest Native American Research Center for Health (NARCH) housed at the Northwest Portland Area Indian Health Board is looking for caring adults to mentor a group of 2-4 Native high school juniors and seniors in this introductory public health program.

Q & A

Can more than one site from a community apply?

Yes! The more, the merrier!

Can youth still participate if they miss sessions due to sports or other activities?

Yes! We will record sessions for later viewing. We ask that youth not miss more than 2 live sessions.

Can younger or older youth apply?

This is designed for 16-18 year-olds, but we'll review applicants on a case-by-case basis.

Do youth have to stay at school to join sessions?

We want youth to support each other, but they can join where they're most comfortable & Wi-Fi is strong!

What if the mentor isn't available to attend THRIVE week in PDX?

No worries! Another parent or chaperone can accompany students attending THRIVE.

APPLY:

<https://www.surveymonkey.com/r/NARCHResearchAcademy>

Sponsored by

National Institute of Medical Sciences of the National Institutes of Health | Award Number S06GM145214

NPAIHB

SCAN ME