

Building resilience in tribal nations

Lisa Figueroa, MA, CEM

City of Redmond, WA

Vice Chair, International Association of Emergency Managers, Tribal Affairs Caucus

Tools for resilience

Communication

- Sharing information

Supplies

- Gather and share

Planning

- Active participation

Communication

---

- Outreach
- Training
- Alert and warning
- Multi-media messaging

Supplies

- Personal kits
- Mass care
- Response tools

Planning

- Comprehensive
- Collaborative
- Partnerships

5/11/23

Multi-hazard planning involves the entire emergency management cycle.

Summary

Keep lines of communication open.

Expand your plans to respond better to any emergency.

Update and maintain supplies

Preparedness and mitigation are on-going.

Create plans with, not for, your community.

Keep sharing new ideas.

Closing

Thank you for all you do in your communities.

Please reach out if you have any questions.

Lisa Figueroa

lfigueroa@redmond.gov

425.556.2219

